Police Headquarters at Leek Wootton

Introduction from the PCC

Thank you for your interest in the post of Chief Constable of Warwickshire Police. I look forward to receiving your completed application if you feel you wish to take up this exciting opportunity.

After a period of change and redevelopment Warwickshire is now re-established as a standalone force, moving forward with full operational independence. Record-levels of officer numbers are in place to provide extra resilience and reassurance to communities.

As our Chief Constable retires after six years in the role, I am looking for a new individual who can lead the force into the new era. I have enjoyed an excellent working relationship with outgoing Chief Constable Martin Jelley QPM, his senior team and Warwickshire Police as a whole. This has ensured that the relationship between the force and my office has been open, transparent and effective. I am looking for the next Chief Constable to continue to maintain and enhance this relationship, while also working effectively with our many partners in the county.

As one of the smallest forces in the country you will find an opportunity to make your mark in Warwickshire, working with an engaged and committed workforce, implementing and embedding the improvements and new ways of working that are now in train. You will also have opportunity to form partnerships, both strategically and operationally within the county and further afield and take your place in shaping the delivery of public services to the benefit of communities.

As this advertisement goes live, the elections for the next Police and Crime Commissioner term of office are due to take place on May 6. I have therefore timed the application process to enable the new PCC (if I am not re-elected) to be able to decide on the appointment as one of the first major decisions of the new term of office.

I hope that you find the attached information pack helpful. There is also a wide amount of information on the OPCC and force websites but I appreciate you may wish to gain a closer view. If you would like to talk in more detail with either myself or my Chief Executive Polly Reed, then please do not hesitate to get in touch via email at polly.reed@warwickshire.pnn.police.uk in the first instance.

I look forward to receiving your completed application.

Please indicate on the application form and we will contact you to discuss arrangements.

About Warwickshire

Warwickshire is a rural county within the West Midlands region, with Worcestershire and the West Midlands metropolitan authorities to the west, Leicestershire and Northamptonshire to the east and Staffordshire to the north. Covering an area of 764 square miles it surrounds, but does not include, the city of Coventry.

The north of the county is more urban with its traditional industries such as coal mining, textiles, cement production and heavy engineering now giving way to a growth in the logistics and service sectors. The southern part of the county is predominantly agricultural with historic towns such as Warwick and Stratford-upon-Avon benefiting from the tourist industry.

Warwickshire has a mix of diverse and emerging communities, with the main towns across the area including Atherstone, Coleshill, Nuneaton, Bedworth, Rugby, Royal Leamington Spa, Stratford-upon-Avon and Warwick. There are opposite extremes of wealth and poverty across the districts. The highest levels of deprivation are experienced in Nuneaton & Bedworth, home to the county's largest town, while the least deprived areas are in Stratford-on-Avon.

The population of around 600,000 is predicted to grow further in the coming years, with large scale housing development across the area. Older members of the community make up a greater proportion than regional and national averages and as this group increases, the younger population is in decline, although the birth rate is increasing. The area does however house a sizeable student population, particularly in Leamington Spa, due to the number of universities nearby.

Warwickshire currently has a two tier system of local government. Warwickshire County Council is the upper tier authority and also has responsibility for the local fire and rescue service. At the second tier there are five Borough/District councils:-

- North Warwickshire Borough Council
- Nuneaton & Bedworth Borough Council
- Rugby Borough Council
- Stratford-on-Avon District Council
- Warwick District Council

Parish and town councils make up the remaining tier of local authorities in all areas except Nuneaton & Bedworth.

Policing in Warwickshire

Warwickshire Police has a proud history of more than 160 years, retaining the strengths and characteristics that define a small county force, while also ensuring it establishes a bold and forward-thinking future.

At the heart of the force's plans is the commitment to ensuring Warwickshire Police continues to provide policing services which meet the needs of its communities and supports the aims of its partners within the county.

The force has over 1,000 officers alongside around 80 PCSOs, over 700 members of police staff and just under 200 special constables and volunteers. It has five patrol bases from which officers provide 24/7 response policing, supported by a network of Safer Neighbourhood Teams providing visible policing and award-winning problem solving across our many towns and villages.

Teams of highly skilled detectives manage serious and complex crimes. At the heart of the policing model is an innovative Harm Hub which ensures a true multi-agency approach to tackling some of the highest threats and harms, providing appropriate safeguarding for some of the most vulnerable people in society.

The Operations and Communications Centre (OCC) plays a central role in supporting operational policing delivery and is set to move during 2021 to a new, state-of-the-art control room in Warwick. The introduction of a Resolution Centre will provide the right service first time for victims and communities as well as enabling the force to effectively manage demand.

Supporting local policing are Protective Services (Intelligence, Major Investigations, Serious and Organised Crime, Forensics) and Financial and Enabling Services. All of which provide valuable resources to protect people who live or work in, or visit Warwickshire.

The force also has resources within the Regional Organised Crime Unit working alongside colleagues from West Mercia Police, West Midlands Police and Staffordshire Police.

Life and Leisure in Warwickshire

Warwickshire is an internationally-renowned home to historic towns, rich heritage and hundreds of acres of rolling countryside alongside some of the UK's most established businesses and thousands of thriving small enterprises.

Nestling on the doorstep of major urban centres such as Birmingham and Coventry, the county boasts popular attractions such as Warwick Castle, the Royal Shakespeare Company and Shakespeare's Birthplace Museum alongside numerous country parks, National Trust estates and English Heritage sites. Neighbouring Coventry is the UK City of Culture for 2021, further cementing the area's cultural heritage.

On the sporting front there's a great mix on the doorstep, including top level cricket and football. Rugby is the birthplace of rugby football and is home to the World Rugby Hall of Fame and Visitor Centre, while Royal Leamington Spa will play host to events during the 2022 Commonwealth Games. There are a wide range of other venues across the whole county to enjoy sporting activity for all ages.

Schools in the area have an excellent reputation, with above average attainment levels and a wide range of primary and secondary schools in every part of the county, alongside provision for children with special needs. This is further complemented by private schools with excellent national reputations and the number of high quality universities close by.

Located at the heart of the UK, Warwickshire enjoys superb links to the rest of the country through its proximity to the national motorway network and growing local rail network. This means the hustle and bustle of big city life is only a short trip away from Warwickshire's peaceful and tranquil surrounds, offering the best of both worlds.
